"I came into beekeeping because I wanted to be self-sufficient and I'm doing it for fun. Every family should have one or two hives at the back of their home because it boosts nutrition."

Patricia Mark Grenadian Magistrate and a prize winner at the London Honey Show 2002 with her first ever bottle of honey.

Six beekeepers achieved international recognition for Grenada when they were awarded the first six prizes in the international section of the prestigious 2002 London Honey Show. For a tiny island no bigger than a pinhead on the world map this is a remarkable accomplishment. But how did the story of Grenada's honey begin?
